From the Library

Tis the Season

Tis the season to snuggle up with a good book. Tis the season to thank those that have supported our “Little Library”. People like Jackie Lee who has donated a subscription to “Birds and Blooms” and “Reminiscence” again for 2019. We hope to make our library even better in the New Year. You may leave suggestions on my desk or the front desk, any ideas will be considered.

Correction from last month. Little Library Organization is a 501-63 nonprofit . Although we are a nonprofit we do not come under the 502-63 part of the tax code. Therefore we do not give a receipt for your donation. We sure hope this in no way will keep you from donating books and other items you may consider. If you have a question about donations please ask me before dropping it off.

Happy New Year to All!

National Volunteer Blood Donor Month

This January, the American Red Cross celebrates National Blood Donor Month and recognizes the life-saving contribution from blood and platelet donors. As we begin the New Year, the Red Cross encourages individuals to resolve to roll up a sleeve to give this month and throughout 2019.

National Blood Donor Month has been observed in January since 1970 with the goal of increasing blood and platelet donations during winter – one of the most difficult times of year to collect enough blood products to meet patient needs. During the winter months, inclement weather often results in cancelled blood drives, and seasonal illnesses like the flu may cause some donors to become temporarily unable to donate.

Blood donation appointments can be made by downloading the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting redcrossblood.org or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients.

How to Fight the Effects of Aging

Like any battle, the fight against aging is best fought on several fronts simultaneously.

Get Up and Get Moving

Exercise is the key to a healthy life if you're eight or 80. A brisk 30-minute walk every day is a step in the right direction. Take friends along or bring a dog for company. It also may help with motivation. Even those unable to walk may still get some exercise while stationary through repetitive movement exercises.

Eat Smart

The right kind of foods in the right quantities may do wonders to stave off the aging process. Plenty of fruits and vegetables, particularly the most colorful ones, which tend to be rich in nutrients, are important. Keeping your total fat intake down is important too; saturated fats in particular. Read food labels and substitute saturated fat in the diet for complex carbohydrates like starch and fiber.

Busy Body, Busy Mind

Exercise keeps the body working, but a flexible mind is just as important. The more occupied the mind stays, the more its cells are stretched, and the better shape it stays in. Start tackling the daily crossword and read the rest of the newspaper while you're at it. Take up a hobby, keep busy and give yourself things to look forward to.

Laugh Loud, Live Long

It's the best medicine, it keeps you young, it's birthed a thousand clichés, but there's no getting around it – laughing feels good and that can't be bad. Watch a comedy, read a book of humorous fiction, share some jokes, get together with friends and reminisce about the good old days. Whatever gets you laughing keeps you young at heart, which is a good thing physically and emotionally. Smiling makes you look younger, too.

National Activities Professional Week

January 20-26, 2019 is National Activities Professional Week, where we recognize our Activity Directors who plan and schedule a variety of fun and engaging events, outings, activities and entertainment. Please take a moment during this week to let our Activities Professionals know how much we appreciate them!

Keeping an Eye on Vision Health

Doctors say maintaining vision health can be especially important as you age. Fortunately there are multiple ways to keep your eyes healthy. Try these tips:

1. Quit smoking. If you smoke, you're much more likely to develop age-related macular degeneration, or AMD, than nonsmokers. AMD is one of the most common causes of blindness in those over 65. While there are some ways to slow its progression, there is no cure.
2. Wear sunglasses and a wide-brimmed hat when you're in the sun. These two simple steps can reduce your exposure to eye-damaging UV rays.
3. Watch your weight. Being overweight is a major risk factor for developing Type 2 diabetes. Diabetic retinopathy is one of the leading causes of blindness in those under 65.
4. Eat your spinach. Spinach is a rich source of lutein and zeaxanthin, powerful antioxidants that can reduce the risk of certain eye diseases, like AMD. Other good sources include any kind of leafy green vegetable such as collards and kale, as well as eggs and orange-colored fruits.
5. See your eye care professional for a full vision examination at least once every two years. Go more often if you have diabetes or any other eye-related condition.
6. Change your eye makeup every three to six months. It becomes contaminated with bacteria and can infect your eye.
7. Don't fall asleep in your daily wear contact lenses. In fact, don't ever wear them longer than they're designed to be worn.

Jump Start Your Self-Confidence

To begin feeling a fresh spark of self-confidence within you, try as many of these as you like!

1. Open up your cookbook to a completely new recipe and learn to cook it well.
2. Learn how to say "I love you" in two different languages.
3. Look inside a thesaurus to find new ways to say the same old things.
4. Find three funny jokes and learn to tell them really well.
5. Get a makeover, new hairstyle, or all new socks and underwear.
